10th International Masonry Conference - Deadline for Abstracts

From 9 to 11 July 2018, Milan (Italy) is the stage for the 10th IMC (International Masonry Conference) and the place to be for international masonry experts. Unlike its older sister, the International Brick and Block Masonry Conference (IB²MaC), the IMC takes place only in Europe and is therefore much stronger attended by European experts than the IB²MaC. This conference series was initiated by the former British Masonry Society, which later became the International Masonry Society (IMS). The local partner and co-organiser of the International Masonry Society for its 10th IMC is the Politecnico di Milano - the Technical University of Milan. The call for abstracts is open and the deadline for submitting abstracts will close on 30 June 2017.

Contributions can be submitted for the following topics:

- Innovation and sustainability of masonry
- New construction techniques/technologies
- Architecture with masonry
- Prefabrication of masonry
- Analysis of masonry structures
- Material modelling and testing
- New developments in design/verification
- Earthquake resistance and retrofitting
- Reliability and performance
- Masonry and building physics
- Codes and standards
- Fire resistance
- Training and education in masonry
- Conservation of historic buildings
- Earthen construction
- Repair and strengthening
- Case studies

Abstracts must be submitted in English and will be reviewed by the Technical Organizing Committee. Authors will be notified about the acceptance of their contributions by the end of September 2017.
